Torngat Area of Interest Feasibility Sessions

The Nunatsiavut Government and Parks Canada are working together to assess the feasibility of establishing the Torngat Area of Interest as an Inuit Protected Area under the Canada National Marine Conservation Areas Act.

Community engagements are being held in Nunavik and Nunatsiavut to discuss the feasibility assessment process, where the Steering Committee will share highlights from the “What We Heard Report”.

You can get the latest on other feedback from key stakeholders and receive information on the revised boundary, share your thoughts, request further feedback, and answer any questions about the feasibility assessment process and next steps.

Meetings have already taken place in Nain and Rigolet.

If you are interested in joining the conversation, contact Torngataoi@nunatsiavut.com and marie.fernandes@pc.gc.ca
